

AGENDA DE EVENTOS

Association for Healthcare Resource & Materials Management (AHRMM): Collaborating To Achieve the Triple Aim

Who should attend: Professionals in the healthcare supply chain field

As the premier education and networking event for the healthcare supply chain field, AHRMM16 will focus on the theme: “Collaborating To Achieve the Triple Aim.” The Triple Aim framework was developed by the Institute for Healthcare Improvement and calls for “improving the individual experience of care, improving the health of populations and reducing the per capita cost — all addressed at the same time. The organizers aim to achieve this goal with four days of relevant keynote presentations, learning labs, presentations regarding new business solutions and in-person collaborations with industry thought leaders. It has a lot to do with collaboration. We want to bridge gaps between supply chain and finance and executive suite and vendor population. We are focused on improving healthcare; that’s the underlying motivation. “Any opportunity we have to make someone’s job more streamlined or more efficient — that’s really what we’re going for.”

TEDMED 2016

Who should attend: Industry leaders and professionals from medical research institutions, think tanks, government agencies and foundations.

The aim of TEDMED is to bridge the gap “between science and the public by finding and sharing stories that inform, inspire, engage and provoke action across a broad, passionate community both inside and outside of health and medicine.” It values inclusiveness and multidisciplinary collaboration toward creating a healthier world. Its annual event gathers individuals across a variety of sectors to focus on emerging trends in health and medicine. By forging partnerships with industry leaders, medical research institutions, think tanks, government agencies and foundations, TEDMED aims to ensure that cutting-edge biomedical thinking is accessible across disciplines and to the greater public.
